Background Information about DGS-Korpus project

Project time: 2009-2023 (15 years)

Project aims:

- Reference corpus of German Sign Language (DGS)
- Free public corpus (≈ 50 hours)
- Corpus-based dictionary DGS - German (DW-DGS)

Reference corpus:

- Data collection: 2010-2012
- 13 regions across Germany
- 330 (near-)native signers
- 560 hours signing videos
- 92,5 hours lemmatised, 615,000 tokens

DGS corpus materials

- You can watch many videos on the websites of DGS-Korpus project.
- The participants signed naturally.
- Many variants have been collected and documented.
- You don't need registration or payment.

Good to know

- DGS-Korpus project collects and publishes language data.
- Here are some materials that can be used for your sign language (SL) teaching.
- The corpus contains examples of various sign forms and grammatical uses.
- To use it for teaching and learning, you need to get to know the website and possibilities first.
- You can use KWIC (Key Word in Context).

Background Information about the Situation of SL Teaching in Germany

Teaching materials in Germany (current situation)

- Most teaching materials for SL consist of text and images only.
- Some materials offer videos in form of e.g. DVD (old-fashioned).
- Each teacher uses their sign variants (little variation).
- You have to pay for these materials.
- Corpus contains also variants not used by or known to teachers.

Results of Online-Survey (Bleicken 2021)

- SL teachers often produce their videos themselves.
- SL teachers are not sure how to use the corpus data for teaching.
- SL teachers have the desire to attend workshops.
- SL teachers are interested in newly developed teaching materials.

- Conclusion: A list of conclusions, including: Learners have the possibility to work more independently (learner autonomy); SL Teachers have the possibility, based on the big data set, to design their lessons freely; The teachers save time. They don't need to produce their own videos; Improved quality of SL teaching.
- Advantages: A list of advantages, including: SL Teachers have the possibility, based on the big data set, to design their lessons freely; Learners can see a variety of signers. Good for learning e.g. reception; Wide selection of sign variants (age, gender and regional variation); These Data you can use for L1- and L2-learners. Vocabulary can be accessed very quickly; You can use the data for lessons.
